Suicide—Mysterious Talk

What John Newburg said to Arabella Miller, and what Arabella Miller said to John Newburg a moment before he shot her and her escort, John Hieder, in the loneliest spot on the West Salem road about 3 o'clock Sunday morning, might if the conversation were known help to clear up the mystery of a tragedy growing out of a love affair between Miss Miller and Newburg. For the present, at least, the lips of all participants are sealed, the girl's parents declining to divulge what passed between them, and Hieder remaining mute to all questions on that point.

After a party at the West Salem town hall in which he had danced with Miss Miller, Newburg, an old sweetheart of hers, intercepted her in the carriage of Hieder at the old Waterloo bridge and there fired four shots into her body, reserving one for Hieder, and escaped.

The first bullet took effect in the girl's breast, first passing through her hand, which she had raised in a defensive gesture. Another entered her cheek, glancing from the bone without reaching a vital spot, and the third pierced her right forearm.
Hieder was shot through the left forearm, the bullet lodging in the flesh. This shot was doubtless intended for the girl, as were two other shots that went wild.

Neither victim is in a dangerous condition, but Miss Hieder owes her life to the fact that the gun used was a 22 caliber affair, the penetrating power of which was insufficient to reach a vital spot. Even then, had not she intercepted the bullet which reached her breast with the thick portion of her hand, the results might have been serious.

After the shooting Hieder drove to the home of Miss Miller, where Dr.
Wakefield was called. Hieder's wound was dressed after the girl had been attended to, and later he was driven to his home.

Chose Lonely Spot

The spot chosen by Newburg for his premeditated crime was an ideal one, and the deliberation with which he laid his plans to cut off escape betrays the suggestion of insincerity in his attack offered by the fact that he used a small pistol. The Waterloo bridge is one of those old fashioned cabin affairs, completely housed by sides and a roof. Into this the would-be assassin drove, turning his carriage across the bridge to prevent a dash through it by the horse of his rival. There he awaited the approach of Hieder.

A few moments, probably planning to stop the two there. He changed his mind, however, and drove off at a rapid gate.

The Waterloo bridge is located at one of the most dark and lonely places on the North Salem road. It rises about 20 feet above the La Crosse river which at this point is very swift and deep. There are rapids directly below the bridge. Newburg proceeded to the further end of the bridge and after hitching his horse and swinging his rig around in a manner calculated to block the passage, seems to have satisfied himself that the obstruction could not be seen until the bridge had been entered.

A Desperate Attack
Then he laid in wait for the pair and as their rig entered the enclosure he sprang out and seizing the horse shouted that he "wanted to talk to you for a few minutes." The girl made no answer. Hieder told him to go ahead only to make it short as they wanted to get home.

The Mysterious Talk Then followed the mysterious conversation, the secrecy maintaining concerning which leads to the belief that back of the shooting lies a deeper incentive than the irrational conduct of a despondent lover. Not a word, not an inkling of this can be secured. It is surmised that the assailant first tried to induce Miss Miller to leave Hieder and accompany him, but there is hardly in that respect the meat for a guarded secret.
At any rate, the talk ended in Newburg leaping into the buggy gun in hand and opening fire, in Hieder grappling with him, in the infliction of the five wounds, a fall from the buggy, and the successful dash for liberty that carried the victims miraculously through the blockaded bridge and on to the Miller home.

Dead Man, Anyway
"Never mind that," shouted Newburg, "I'm a dead man anyway!" In the struggle both men pitched out of the buggy and Newburg was throwing to one side and in the time thus gained Hieder was given an opportunity to throw the obstructing buggy to one side. He jumped into the buggy, lashed the horse and succeeded in dashing out of the bridge before Newburg had recovered.

She Escapes
At just the other side of the bridge is an old building, formerly used as a saloon but now used as a dwelling place by Schuch. As he passed this he slowed the horse and shouted to Mr. Schuch for assistance. Schuch replied he would be down in a minute. At this point Newburg was seen by Hieder to rush past their rig and disappear in the underbrush to the left of the road. That was the last seen of Newburg. Schuch came running out of his house just after Newburg had passed but in the excitement made no attempt to follow the man. The rig of Newburg was found hitched to the bridge, he having made no attempt to utilize it in escaping.

The Alarm Sounded
Following the shooting the alarm was promptly given, but thus far Newburg has eluded the authorities.
Sheriff C. J. Burns was notified, and hastened to the spot, where he availed himself of the assistance of citizens who proffered aid, and a posse scoured the country. The sheriff returned on the noon train today, and Undersheriff Moore has also returned to the city, the belief prevailing that the fugitive cannot escape through the elaborate web that has been thrown about the situation by telegraph and telephone.

The possibility of suicide has been considered, the strange exclamation of Newburg in his fight with Hieder being recalled. "I'm a dead man anyway," he said, and nothing had been said or done to call forth such an exclamation. On the theory that this may have meant that he intended taking his own life, part of the posse began dragging the river, presuming the fellow might have drowned himself, but no trace of the body was found.

A story that after their assailant had plunged into the thicket another shot was heard by the victims is denied by them, and a search of the locality discloses nothing.

May Have Sought Her Home Did Newburg, after spending a day hiding from the posse and the officers creep back at night to the home of the Miller girl to ascertain what her condition was? Is a question that arose today. Early this morning tracks, believed by some to be those of Newburg, were found leading up to the Miller farm. It is the opinion of many that after spending the day a fugitive remorse compelled him to creep back during the night to find out the condition of his sweetheart. Perhaps had he earned that she was safe he would have surrendered, but failing to see or hear anything, he may have stolen off to his hiding place. A search of the barns and outhouses about the Miller place has disclosed nothing.

SCARE REPORTS BOOST PRICES

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The grain pit was thrown into an uproar today by reports from the northwest that "the black rust was worse than in 1904 and crops are simply burning up with the heat." The morning scenes were sensational and prices leaped sky-ward as the alarming reports increased. Two cents were added to Saturday's wheat price in the first hour. With September wheat mounting to 94¢ and May to $1.01, brokers loaded down with orders ran excitedly about the pit selling large orders. The buying also reached huge proportions. The shorts were thoroughly stampeded and fled panic stricken before the constantly growing bullish sentiment.

The excitement extended to the corn pit also. There is a continued drought in the Mississippi and Missouri valley and reports are stating that corn is firing and that unless rain soon comes it will suffer untold damage. Frightened farmers swamped the brokers with orders. Corn delivery next May, which represents the new crop, opened at 64 to 65 cents and rose to 65½. This is an advance of 2½ cents since Saturday and five cents since last week.

Weather Conditions
Local showers have occurred during the past 24 hours in the Mississippi valley north of La Crosse and south of Cairo and in the Lake Superior region and central districts but has moderated considerably throughout the northwest.

The pressure in Manitoba, with a secondary depression in the lower Mississippi valley. It is highest in the Atlantic states and over the northern Pacific slope. These conditions favor generally fair weather in this section tonight and Tuesday, with lower temperature tonight.

OKLAHOMA BANKS ARE DEMORALIZED

GUTHRIE, Aug. 3.—Bonaparte's decision that the national banks cannot comply with the Oklahoma state law providing the guaranty of bank deposits, has almost disorganized the national banks throughout the state.

The bankers who had already complied with the law declare today that the decision doesn't affect them and will not force their surrender of the guaranty protection. This claim is based on the fact that stockholders are not the banks themselves and are liable on the contract with the state. Other national banks, however, insist that Bonaparte's decision robs all of the protection of guaranty.

The outcome of the decision, it is expected, will be to force many national banks to become state institutions.

PARIS STRIKE NOT HALF SO BAD

OF 100,000 ADVERTISED TO QUIT BUT 50,000 GO OUT

A SLAP AT THE GOVERNMENT

Strike Was Intended to Rebuke Administration for Severity Toward Strikers

PARIS, Aug. 3.—The threatened 24 hour strike of 100,000 Paris workmen, as a protest against the government's severity in dealing with the several strike demonstrations, called today is proving a fizzle. Not more than half of this number have quit work, and except for the non-appearance of several morning papers on account of lack of compositors, and the police patrols, it would not be known that a gigantic labor dispute is progressing.

So far there has been no violence, though the authorities are taking no chances and an augmented police force of 25,000 soldiers are in readiness to act at the first sign of an outbreak.

In the chamber today 48 socialist deputies addressed by letter Minister Brisson, demanding an immediate convocation of parliament to deal with the situation. Only a few of the city's activities are crippled by the strike, and as it is to last only one day, Parisians are inclined to enjoy the situation. The strikers are holding numerous meetings throughout the city, but the presence of the soldiers prevent any display of violence.

PITTSBURG CLOSED TO GOULD HEREAFTER

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 3.—Pittsburg learned today that E. H. Harriman has supplanted George J.
Gould absolutely in this district, so far as railway improvement is concerned. It is declared that Gould, in order to make peace with Harriman and save a portion of his railroad properties, was compelled to practically relinquish the control of the Wabash-Pittsburg terminal, the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the Western Maryland, and the West Side Belt roads, and sign an agreement that he never would again attempt railroad construction east of Toledo, Ohio.

This means that the Pennsylvania and Vanderbilt lines, which, with the aid of the Baltimore and Ohio, have so successfully fought the Wabash invasion here, now have a new foe.
Not only this, but the two systems now find the Baltimore and Ohio road allied with the enemy.

BONAPARTE MADE ISSUE STRONGER

BRYAN PLEASED WITH ATTACK ON BANK GUARANTEES

IT IS PART OF HIS LETTER

Acceptance Document is Ready—It's Short and Sweet and Bryan is Happy Today

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 3.—Wearing the "smile that won't come off" Wm. J. Bryan was today looking for a cool spot about his palatial home, well pleased with himself. His speech of acceptance is completed and is now being "set up" by the printers for distribution to the press of the country. It is less than half the length of Taft's and Bryan believes it will be thoroughly read as it makes only 6,500 words.

It is learned today that Bryan takes direct issue with the attorney general regarding the legality of safeguarding bank deposits. The fact that Taft declared the proposition illegal, coupled with the opinion of Bonaparte makes good political capital for the democrats. Bryan believes, and he has given instructions that this particular section of the speech be carefully guarded. It is known, however, that Bryan has consulted some of the best constitutional lawyers in the country regarding the proposition, and feels that the suggested law would be constitutional and his speech explains why.

H. D. MORTON WEDS MISS VAILLANCORUT

Mr. Horace D. Norton and Miss Zella Vaillancourt were married at Sparta this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Esch. The wedding, originally planned to take place later in the year, was precipitated by a message received this morning by Mr. Norton asking that he report to the national congressional committee at once.

The couple left La Crosse at noon, stopping off a few hours at Sparta and then going to New York, stopping again only a few hours at Ni-York came unexpectedly and necessitated the use of the wire by Attorney Fred H. Hartwell to remove the necessity of waiting the five days required under the present marriage law.

Miss Vaillancourt is exceedingly well known and popular in this city.
Mr. Norton was until a short time ago chief of pages in the house of representatives, having shown himself worthy of promotion, he is attached to Sergeant Casson's force. Mr. Norton is also a graduate of the Palmer School of Chiropractic at Davenport, being a member of the board of directors of the national association and will probably later leave the political for the professional field.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton will return from New York the latter part of October to remain until congress reconvenes when they will go to Washington for the winter.

GIRL BURNS TO DEATH TO SAVE CANARY

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 3.—A desire to save her pet canary bird from the flames caused the death today of Elsie Blechel aged 10 years, in a fire that consumed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gubisch.

HIBBING LIBRARY OPENED.

HIBBING, Minn., Aug. 3.—The Hibbing library has been opened. The building was erected by an appropriation of $25,000 made by Andrew Carnegie. The village purchased the site at Third avenue and Mahoning street, opposite the Central school building, for $10,000, and the township of Stuntz made an appropriation of $3,000 for the immediate purchase of books and a further appropriation of $500 per year for books for the next ten years. The village of Hibbing will pay $2,500 per year for the maintenance of the library.

At Least Five Towns Totally or Partially Destroyed—Flames Race Toward Montana

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 3.—Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, says advices from Fernie, B. C., are to the effect that the forest fires in British Columbia are not so disastrous as was first reported. He says a Great Northern relief train reached Fernie today and reports that only one died there.

F. W. Lynch, Governor Johnson's former campaign manager, who is heavily interested in the Elk Lumber company, whose mills are at Fernie, received a report from the mill manager that no lives were lost in Fernie. Lynch estimates the loss to his company at $400,000, with insurance of $300,000.

CRANBROOK, B. C., Aug. 3.— Five hundred persons are dead, 10-000 homeless and $20,000,000 monetary loss is already made as the fruits of huge forest fires raging throughout Kootenay, according to reports received today, which say the flames are sweeping mountain and valley over a region a hundred miles square.

Fernie, B. C., is wiped out, with a loss of 74 lives, and Michel with 2,000 people, fourteen miles away is, at last accounts, the center of a raging furnace which may kill all the people.

Hosmer, Sparwood and Olsen, with a total population of 1,675 are menaced and awaiting almost certain destruction. From every point tales of death and ruin are pouring in. At camp 4, of the Elk River Lumber company, 61 men and two women were burned to death, and throughout the whole fore-swept region scores of isolated settlements are wiped out.

How many are lost will be unknown for days as the whole country is one mighty furnace with the inhabitants fleeing, foodless and shel-terless to the bald mountain tops to escape the sea of fire raging below.
Besides the groups of refugees on the mountain tops, every little valley on the prairie has its cluster of terror-stricken people, battling for life against the showers of cinders that are threatening every moment to consume their last shelter. How many people there are in the fire isolated district is at present conjecture, but it is certain they number thousands.

Relief on the Rails NELSON, B. C., Aug. 3.—The whole Canadian northwest is rushing to the relief. From Toronto and Vancouver special trains are speeding to the stricken region. Refugees arriving today bring harrowing tales of the disaster.

One woman remained in her home until it caught fire and then fled of heart disease. The neighbors buried the body and then fled. Women aided the men throughout the fire zone.

A story is related of a small party of men and women attempting to escape from Fernie by a bridge over the Elk river which was aflame. The bridge collapsed while they were crossing. The number in the party is unknown.

Hosmer refugees estimate the number of dead and injured there at 100.

Fernie Dead 175
FERNIE, Aug. 3.—One hundred and seventy-five persons are estimated dead in this vicinity by forest fires according to Thomas Biggs, secretary of the Miners' union. He places the property loss in the town and the surrounding mines at $8-000,000.

News has been received here which makes it probable that the towns of Hosmer and Michel, which at first were thought to be destroyed, have been partially saved. At Hosmer the buildings were being dynamited when the refugees who just arrived here, left that settlement.

The properties of the Canadian

SPORTING NOTES

STATE GOLF TITLE WON BY FRED PETTIT

KENOSHA STAR TAKES THE CHAMPIONSHIP SECOND TIME

Tourtelotte Wins From Burton in President's Cup Match and Hixon Takes New Era Cup

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 3.—Fred Pettit of the Kenosha Country club won the golf championship of Wisconsin for the second time Saturday afternoon, when he defeated Frank W. Jacobs of Madison. The victory of Pettit was a clean-cut one, as the match stopped at the thirteenth hole with Pettit 5 up and 3 to go.

Only once during his match was Jacobs in any way dangerous, and that was in the course of the morning round, when he showed some great golf. The men were even at the end of the first nine holes, but Pettit picked up one at the fifteenth. Then Jacobs took a spurt and by winning two of the remaining holes ended the morning round 1 up.

Pettit squared the match on the first green in the afternoon, but Jacobs won the second hole. This was the last hole he won in the match, as afterward Pettit played perfect golf.

There was no sensational play, but the remaining thirteen holes were all made in bogey. At the turn this afternoon Pettit was 4 up on the champion, and he simply loafed along content to halve the next five holes. The last hole was a gift for the state champion, who, seeing he had no chance for better than half, putted wide and gave Pettit the hole. The cards in the state championship match follow:

F. R. Pettit, Kenosha, morning—
Out . . . 4 6 5 4 3 3 4 6 5—40
In . . . 4 4 3 4 7 5 7 6—44—84

Afternoon—
Out . . . 2 6 5 5 3 3 4 5 5—38
In . . . 5 3 4 4 5 5

Frank W. Jacobs, Madison, morning—
Out . . . 4 5 6 5 4 4 3 5 4—40
In . . . 5 3 6 4 4 5 4 4 6—41—81

In . . . 5 3 4 4 5 6

So great was the number of cards turned in for the selected score trophy, the star cup of them all, that it will be a couple of days before this is decided. The other cups were presented this afternoon as follows:

Championship cup—Fred Pettit of Kenosha, defeating Frank W. Jacobs of Madison, 5 up and 3 to play, Jacobs winning runner up cup.

President's cup—A. M. Tourtelotte of La Crosse, who defeated G. W. Burton of La Crosse, 9 up and 7 to play, in the finals for the second flight trophy, Burton receiving the runner up cup.

Consolation cup—F. M. Wooten of Madison, who scored the lowest in the play on Thursday for the handicapped medal score for those who failed to qualify in any flight.

New Era cup—J. M. Hixon of La Crosse, who took the low handicap medal score in Thursday's play for the first and second flight men who failed to qualify in the flights to which they belonged.

Choice score cup—Arthur H. Greenwald of Oshkosh, who played off a tie of 77 with H. L. Butler of Madison for Friday's eighteen hole card, made up of the best holes in a thirty-six hole round. Harold Wyatt of Fond du Lac, the youngest golfer entered in the tournament, also scored 77, but left for home without knowing that he was tied for the cup.

Two ball foursome—Won by B. M. Pettit and R. P. Cavanaugh of Kenosha, after playing off a tie at 85 with Hugo Hansen and H. L. Willoughby of Milwaukee Country club.

Fifty year age limit handicap—H. O. Fairchild of Green Bay, who scored far below any of his numerous competitors. Twenty cards were turned in for this event, which was thirty-six holes, eighteen each Friday and Saturday.

Match against bogey, handicap—D. P. Wheeler of Madison, 3 up, who led G. F. Metcalf of Milwaukee by one hole.

STATE RIFLE CAMP WAS OPENED TODAY

WISCONSIN MILITARY RESERVATION, Aug. 3.—At 7 o'clock this morning the annual rifle camp was opened here. All indications are that for the following four days the most interesting and hottest contested rifle competition ever held on this range will take place. This prediction is guaranteed by the large number of comparatively new shots who broke into the limelight during the regimental encampments and every indication points to a number of new men being on the state team to compete at Camp Perry, O., in the national match next month.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The locals won the first of the series with La Crosse here yesterday by the score of 5 to 1. Eberly for the visitors was in poor form, being wild and was found for seven long wits by the Reds. Palmer was in good form, holding the visitors at critical times and kept the hits well scattered.

With the score 2 to 1 in favor of the locals and with two men on bases Red Moore pounded out a home run practically ending the game in the eighth inning.

Saturday's Game.
MADISON, Wis., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The Senators were victors here Saturday in one of the best exhibitions of baseball seen on the local diamond for some time. The final score was 2 to 0 in favor of Madison, the game being a pitchers' battle between Baillies and Liese with the honors slightly in favor of the latter. Heavy stick work at opportune times won for the locals.

FEATURES OF BIG WILD WEST SOW
Buffalo Bill's Wild West has a choice bunch of selected broncho demons, too vicious to be worth breaking, even if it were possible to break them, and two of them have reputations as "killers." At every performance in the arena cowboys, rope, saddle and ride these equine devils, an animated proceeding in which nobody can afford to take excited interest. The Wild West will be here soon and the military drills, the battle scenes, the bucking horses, fearless riders, Indian wardances and all the other well-known features will surely be presented, with Buffalo Bill at the head of the aggregation.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West carries a band of buffaloes which are used during the exhibition for demonstration of the way in which hunters on the plains in the old days used to ride into herds of their kin, slaughtering right and left. Show-life agrees with the beasts. They are always plump, good-natured and in good condition, evidently content

BABIES ARE DESTINY

"Babies are the dice of destiny," So says Elbert Hubbard in the current Philistine. He says many true things, along with many untrue and shameless things, but he says nothing forcefully. A master of epigram, understanding thoroughly that he who follows conventions attracts no attention while he who goes counter-wise to the existing order is noted often to the extent of being notorious, Hubbard never fails to be so unusual and epigrammatical as to shock and entertain.

In the above sentence Hubbard has given terse and attractively fantastical expression to a truth. Two interpretations are possible, and a double sense may have been purposefully lent to the statement. Hubbard may have meant that in the birth of a babe destiny has thrown the dice, the score being read in the infant's own destiny.

But the birth of a child affects more destinies than one. If it affects the destinies of its parents, who may sacrifice ambitions and abandon great careers that their offspring may have sustenance and culture. Sometimes the child thus blights a great career of a great parent without itself attaining a compensating productiveness; sometimes the child compensates the parent for the sacrifice by itself becoming great, extending its broadening and uplifting influence to others along life's path.

However, the rearing of babies is man's first duty. So great in importance is the perpetuation of the race that An Allwise One has insured it at the cost of charging the species with passions that are and must remain a potent contributor to the world's misery. We must bear our babies, and wish destiny luck with every roll of the dice. He who brings forth children is both fulfilling and creating destiny, and what prouder destiny can man attain than to maintain a happy home filled with healthy, happy children? How can he contribute so much to the wealth and happiness of the world as by cultivating and directing them into the way of righteous productiveness?

HEARSTISM IMPOSSIBLE

Many people believe, and we believe for good and sufficient reasons, that there should be a new political party; that this party should take over all the so-called "radicals," or "progressives," leaving to one or the other of the old parties all the "conservatives," or "reactionaries." That would provide a "progressive" party and a "conservative" party, and there could be an intelligent counting of noses, with the result that the majority would rule. The "conservative" has a right to his party, just as the "progressive" has a right to his party, but neither has a right to try to rule two parties, with the possible result that the "conservative" faction of each party may rule, thus depriving the "progressive" faction of each of any party at all, or vice versa.

But there can never be attained the desired result through the establishment of a party ruled by William Randolph Hearst, or by any one man. Hearst is objectionable as even a factor in the new party, because he has been seeking for years to attain the presidency for himself by the expenditure of his private fortune. He would be objectionable, anyway, because he would have nothing to do with a party he could not dominate, and a party boss, even though he were an unseemingly humanitarian, would be undesirable, fatal. This idea of a third party means a party so launched as to invite Roosevelt, Bryan, La Follette—all who are working toward things progressive from honest motives—to embrace it and sustain it. Such is not the aim of the Hearst party, and if it were, its aim would be wild.
These men, and men who would conscientiously follow them, would have none of Hearst and Hearstism.

Nowhere has the selfishness, the one-manness, of the Hearst propaganda, and the impossibility of its expansion into anything great and respectable been more forcible and precisely expressed than in the recent struttings thereon of Thomas Watson, populist candidate for the presidency. Mr. Watson said:

"In my judgment a political party owned and controlled by one man, no matter how rich and good and great, can never amount to much in American politics. This so-called 'Independence party' is a copy-righted affair financed and steered by Mr.
Hearst. Its so-called leaders are his editors and employees. Almost without exception those who are prominent in the movement are upon the Hearst payroll. In a country like ours, where the sense of individual freedom is so strong, the people will never consent to compromise their own liberty of action by becoming members of a personally conducted and privately owned political organization.

"I do not believe that this new movement will have any considerable influence upon the elections in Indiana, New York or other states. The democratic party changes its creed every four years, but the Independence party has already changed its creed twice during this year. When it met in Indianapolis some months ago it was in favor of a ship subsidy and the Wall street system of finance; in Chicago it adopted practically every one of the planks which have so long been the platform of the populist party. If populist principles are correct there would seem to be no good reason why the populist national ticket should not receive the votes of those who believe in populism.

"Mr. Hearst's denunciation of both the old parties falls flat with a public which knows he cannot now be better informed of the decadence and corruption of both the parties than he was when he leagued himself first with the one and then with the other in New York politics."

To say that Hearst is insincere and dishonest, a self-seeker who honors no man's confidence and invites the support of none but hirelings, may be repetition, but redundancy will not weaken the force of an assertion the truth of which has never been more apparent than it is at this time. That he will succeed in his undenied purpose of weakening the chances of Mr.
Bryan's election is not more true than that he has eliminated himself from the councils of any party which has or will have justifiable anticipations of ever electing a president of the United States. His new movement is a confession of his tardy recognition of the fact that no man can purchase the presidency.

"There may be a few republicans in the state of Wisconsin who do not know all about Senator Isaac Stephenson's activities as a party man or who do not at any rate understand the stupidity of a charge that he is a factional candidate for renomination to the senate and that the faction promoting his candidacy is the so-called stalwart element of the party in this state."—La Crosse Chronicle.

And the stalwart-to-the-core Chronicle is supporting Stephenson toot and nail. Did it ever support a candidate that wasn't a "stalwart candidate?"

It is not strange that R. B. Gettitt should accept each new opportunity to say something mean about W. E.
Barber, who thrust the first thorn in

Her Objections

Benham—Why do you object to my wearing a beard?

Mrs. Benham—It isn't the beard itself that I object to. It would be all right if you would only raise one which would harmonize in color with some of my dresses.—The Bohemian.

DIPLOMAS FOR FIRST-PRIZE WINNERS IN OLYMPIAD

At the Olympic games in ancient Greece the prize was a crown of wild olive, or in some contests a handful of parsley. Only at the Athenian games where a cloak was awarded, was the prize of any intrinsic value.
At the London Olympic games this year medals and diplomas will be given to the winners, and memorial medals to every competitor, successful or unsuccessful. The medals were designed by Bertram Mackinnal.

Being Consistent
During the financial stringency, says a western banker, we were compelled to limit the amount our de-positors might withdraw to $10 per day. It occasioned some inconvenience, but most of our patrons took the matter philosophically. One man, though, an eccentric old farmer, was highly indignant, when we refused to let him withdraw $60 at one time.

"Doesn't the money belong to me?" he demanded.
"Certainly," I told him, "but we have other depositors to accommodate, and as the eastern banks have tied up our money, we can pay out only a limited amount each day." The explanation did not appear to be very satisfactory. So, partly to mollify him and partly because I knew that he had unusually fine poultry, I bargained with him for a Thanksgiving turkey. I paid for the turkey in advance—a good stiff price—and he promised to deliver it, dressed on Thanksgiving morning.
At an early hour he arrived with a large bundle, but when the wrapper was removed from the package it proved to be a pasteboard box containing a solitary turkey leg and this note:

"Dear Sir: The demand for turkeys has been enormous, and as I have other customers to accommodate, I can supply you with only a part of your turkey each day."

I was considerably put out, but I made the best of the matter and bought another turkey at the butcher's shop for Thanksgiving dinner.
The next morning the farmer sent a turkey wing, and the following day we got a thigh, and for over a week that eccentric old fellow sent to town every morning a piece of that turkey.

Then I received this note:
"Dear Sir: Your colored cook informs me that you have 'done gobbled all that turkey,' and I wish to warn you that you are overdrawing your account. You didn't bargain for a gobbler."—Youth's Companion.

A Gift to an Explorer.
"Peary," said a geographer of Chicago, "never started on one of his exploring expeditions without receiving by mail and express all sort of packages from cranks—cowhide underwear, tea tablets, medicated boots and what not.

Peary once told me that George Ade, a few days before the start of his last trip, wired him to expect an important package by express.

"The package came. It was labeled:
"To be opened at the farthest point north."
"Peary opened it at once, however. It was a small keg inscribed:

(New York World.)

That Mr. Taft should feel grateful to Mr. Roosevelt is only natural; but he should be loyal to his benefactor; but why this glorification? Why this exaltation? Why this semi-deification? Mr. Taft pictures Mr. Roosevelt as a sort of a Messiah raised up to reform the American government, to purify business and to elevate the moral tone of a wicked and godless people. He talks about "the moral standards set by President Roosevelt" as if they were supplementary to the Ten Commandments.

It is not seemly that William Howard Taft should thus prostrate himself before Theodore Roosevelt.
He is surely Mr. Roosevelt's moral equal. We believe he is Mr. Roosevelt's mental superior. As the candidate he should stand alone. He should not be content to stand in the reflected radiance of Oyster Bay.

COMPLIMENTED.

It is gratifying to Senator Stephenson to find that his services in the cause of the people have brought to him the support of the Milwaukee Free Press. It not only is gratifying to him, but it must have come as no small surprise. While the Free Press ever has shown appreciation of the support that he has given to the "reform" movement, yet it has placed great emphasis upon the achievements of District Attorney McGovern in prosecuting grafters.
He might well have expected, then, that the Free Press would give its support to Mr. McGovern for the United States senate.

Sally's Question

The worthy Sunday school superintendent of a certain Maryland town is also the village drygoods merchant. He is as energetic and efficient in his religious as in his secular capacity. An amusing incident is told of his attempt to enlarge the scriptural knowledge of a class of little girls.

He had told most eloquently the lesson of the day, and at the conclusion he looked about the room and inquired encouragingly:

"Now, has anyone a question to ask?"

Slowly and timidly one little girl raised her hand.

"What is the question, Sally?"

"Don't be afraid. Speak out."

The little girl fidgeted around in her seat, twisted her fingers nervously, cast her eyes down; finally, in a desperate outburst, she put the question:

"Mr. Ward, how much are those gloves for girls in your window?"—

THE IRON LORD

A Hitherto Unpublished Story of Immense Power.

By

S. R. CROCKETT.

(Copyrighted.)

All which eminently Scottish modes of bergering the question, and "reading the bill this day six months," were calculated and arranged for the sole purpose at once of affording Hector McKill no reason for anger, and of personally committing the speakers to nothing in particular.
For, though it is not much known south of the border, Scots "canni-sment" consist not so much in a "bang-went sumpence" carelessness as to money, which is rather rare—and in which the Scot is far surpassed by both Wales and Yorkshire—but in the above faculty of never quite committing himself, never leaving himself without an intellectual backdoor in any argument.

Nevertheless, in the Oddfellows' Hall each Sunday and Wednesday Hector McKill found employment for his faculty in misquoting and distorting Scripture, and condemning others to eternal torture for their inability to see eye to eye with himself.
He even got a certain following, at least at first. There are always in Scottish churches a few of what may be called "dissidents from dissent." Socialism will never make any real progress in Scotland. For the good reason that, even in religion, particu-larism and private property in opinion are so ingrained in the nation, that no three men can ever agree with each other, or be of one mind upon any subject—above all about religion.

Still, with the aforesaid dissidents, the rift-riff ever ready to enter any new Cave of Adullmu, and a few honest men driven to follow the senior manager for reasons of bread and butter, Hector McKill gathered a certain meagre following.

He was less successful, however, when he invited "all interested in the dissemination of the truth," to send in special requests for prayer. One of these notes (strictly anonymous, it may well be presumed) pointed out that the whitened sepulchres of the vicinity were much in need of new coats of paint, and urgent prayers were asked for the same. Another remarked upon the tattered condition of the local hypocrites' cloaks, and suggested a fresh supply as an object to be borne in mind by Mr. McKill on his next Wednesday evening.

A third referred to the "second exits" of all the Incubus pits as pressing petitionary need. While yet others, written in ill-formed calligraphy, with a strong emphasis on the rise of ten per cent. on the wages bill, and an inquiry into the sanitary condition of the houses recently acquired by Mr. Hector McKill with the hard-earned savings of a lifetime.

In fact, as Mr. McKill well said, "Such an exhibition of the lowest and most debased rascality made him almost despair of human nature." He replied by putting up the rents upon his tenants, so as to pay for the expenses of the services in the Oddfellows' Hall. What would have been meanness in an ordinary man, was only the approved and necessary wisdom of the serpent in an approved vessel like Hector McKill.
That Hector was harmless as the dove, was abundantly proven. In fact, he admitted as much himself.

CHAPTERS XXIII

Brought to Book.

Of all Vida's lovers, the most subtle, persistent, and best equipped with argument was one who never appeared in public, whom none ever saw knocking at the door of the little cottage at the wood gate.

This was, in fact, no other than James Kahn, the Confidential himself.

He had studied his abrupt and passionate master, and on the strength of the knowledge so acquired he exploited him thoroughly. He knew that much of Jacob Romer's apparent hardness was the effect of a very real remorse. He believed that if he could only present to his master, a daughter fair, stately, and—this was essential—married to himself, James Kahn, she would be immediately taken to her father's heart.

Also Mr. James Kahn would slip without trouble into the succession of the Romer millions towards which his heart yearned as a bridegroom.
There was something else, of course. Vida was to him a beautiful wild animal, and he promised himself the luxury of taming her. That this would be a real pleasure he doubted not. He admired her. He missed no turn of her little form, no expression of her vivid face. The energetic traits of her beauty were in accordance with his own curiously savage taste—Ghetto crossed with Serb of Belgrade—a bad blood and a dangerous breed.

A singular and apparently causeless jealousy fired Kahn into angers all the more terrible because they had to be contained so severely.
There was no reason in the world why he should not have come by day, before everyone. Vida was a poor girl, and his purpose of marriage apparently useless, and even noble. But he could not sit and see Vie Morris enter as if the place belonged to him, or even, in Vie's recent absences, Phil Calmont. Yet withal, Mr. Kahn was the most modern of men, in so far as apparel went—wearing a sleeve-like turn-down collar, a narrow wisp of a tie in crepe de chine confined with a minute gold fastening. Legginged and wind-coated and flat-capped, he was the complete chauffeur. But in a little sheath, doublestitched by himself into the waistband of his trousers, he wore a knife, or rather, a dagger, very sharp, workmanlike, and warranted to bridge, easily and swiftly for anyone who displeased Mr. James Kahn, the gulf between time and eternity.

What is more, his Serb blood made him inclined to serve himself with it. But he was wise enough to know that in this country, and in peaceable litigious Scotland, such a mode of settling difficulties would assuredly be gravely inconvenient for himself.

ed his majestic Rowena at ever-lengthening intervals.

In short, though mortally afraid, and wishing that the "Confidential" would depart, Vida had enough of the original Eve within her to feel rather flattered. In any case, she had no intention of marrying James Kahn—"not if he were the only man in the world"—so she told herself.

But in spite of any amount of innocence in fact and intention, there is always a certain danger in playing with fire, especially of the Ghetto-Serb type. And though Kahn had begun by determining to marry Vida as the simpler of two ways to the Romer millions, he had ended by feeling for her that sort of dog-in-the-manger love which consists in affirming, "If I can't have her, nobody else shall!"

All the fire of his doubtful blood strengthened this resolve—as well as all his commercial prudence. For if by chance Vida either remembered, or chanced to have brought from the wreck sufficient evidence to convince Jacob Romer of her relationship, the master of millions might prove to be as accessible to the domestic emotions as if the subject had been introduced by Mrs. James Kahn. And that another (let us say Mr. Vie Morris) should carry off from underneath his very nose both money and maiden, was something that the erstwhile commissioner of Belgrade could not permit. If in no other way—well, there remained the Serbian tradition of how to clear a way to a throne.

J. V. Winter Makes 95 Out of 100 Birds Yesterday and is Expected to Take Tourney Prizes

Everything is in readiness for the big open tournament which is to be held next Thursday under the auspices of the "Q" Gun club at their grounds on the old Sawyer & Austin mill site. The local marksmen have been looking forward to the event for some time, and a great deal of interest is being centered upon the result. It is expected that there will be about a hundred snooters enter the contest. There will be marksmen from all parts of the country both amateur and professional. Those from Milwaukee, Winona and Minneapolis will come here with the intention of taking away the honors so the local shots will have a rather hard task to defend their laurels.

A large number were out yesterday and there was a number of promising scores made. J. V. Winter made the best score of 95 out of 100 birds. The following are the scores:

Winter	95	100
Culp	87	100
Clemens	84	100
Rose	57	75
Rodel	49	75

WONDERED WHY

Found the Answer Was "Coffee." Many pale, sickly persons wonder for years why they have to suffer so, and eventually discover that the drug—caffeine—in coffee is the main cause of the trouble.

"I was always very fond of coffee and drank it every day. I never had much flesh and often wondered why I was always so pale, thin and weak."

"About five years ago my health completely broke down and I was confined to my bed. My stomach was in such condition that I could hardly take sufficient nourishment to sustain life."

"During this time I was drinking coffee, didn't think I could do without it."

"After awhile I came to the conclusion that coffee was hurting me, and decided to give it up and try Postum. I didn't like the taste of it at first, but when it was made right—boiled until dark and rich—I soon became very fond of it."

"In one week I began to feel better. I could eat more and sleep better. My sick headaches were less frequent, and within five months I looked and felt like a new being, headache spells entirely gone."

"My health continued to improve and today I am well and strong, weigh 148 lbs. I attribute my present health to the life-giving qualities of Postum."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Matilda Anderson of Rose street has returned from Houston, where she has been visiting friends.

The north side K. P.'s had a picnic yesterday. A number of launches took the party up river where a picnic lunch was served.

Clifford Fletcher has resigned his position at fire department No. 2 and will go on the Milwaukee road as passenger brakeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton have returned to their home in Chicago after visiting at the home of C. Corrigan of Loomis street.

Mrs. W. C. McCormac has returned from a visit with her parents at Savanna.

G. A. R. WOULD BUILD BATTLESHIP

A movement to raise money by popular subscription for a mammoth battleship was inaugurated July 31st by the Owen Gray Post, G. A. R., at Larue, Ohio. The only request that is to be made of the government if the movement becomes a reality is that this battleship be called the "Grand Army of the Republic" in memorial of the soldiers who fought in the civil war.

When asked if the local post would take it up Mr. Ed Cronon said today:

"I did not know of the matter until I read about it but I suppose that if the movement is sanctioned by the National encampment the local post will take hold of it. A post may suggest anything of this kind but it does not become a reality until it is sanctioned by the National encampment. The encampment takes place about the 28th of August and until then nothing can be done about raising funds for the ship."

BOARD TO HOLD NO AUG. MEETING

The board of education will not hold its usual monthly meeting this evening. The members of the board voted to have this month for a vacation but it will meet at the usual date in September. All the work on hand is being attended to by Superintendent Bird and President William Lueening and as they can handle what work is on hand no meeting of the board was necessary.

RITTER DRAWS LONGEST STRAW

The tie bids in the contract for installing voting booths in the north side schoolhouse was let by drawing straws. Contractor Ritter drew the long straw and got the job. Both Ritter and Contractor Bucholz bid $1,188 for the work. The work was commenced Saturday and is well under way this morning. It is expected that the job will take about two months.

GEORGE FLY IS HOST AT PARTY

George Fly of the town of Shelby Saturday evening entertained about fifty of his friends at his home in honor of his seventy-fifth birthday. A large number of presents were given Mr. Fly and congratulations were received from a number of his friends. His son George Fly, Jr., of St. Paul, was among the guests and departed last evening for the Twin cities.

DR. ANITA M'GEE

Americans have just cause to be proud of Dr. Anita McGee, the famous war nurse so active in the late conflict between Russia and Japan. At the opening of the war Dr. McGee organized and headed a band of Yankee nurses who joined the Japanese army and were active in assisting the injured Japanese. In honor of Dr. McGee's efforts in behalf of the Japanese the emperor of Japan has just been decorated her with the badge of honor, which is a distinction accorded to few people and especially rare is the occasion when it is accorded to a woman. Dr. McGee is a daughter of Simon Newcomb, the most famous living astronomer, and the wife of N. J. McGee, the well known scientist.

We Have Planted Tomatoes On 1,200 More Acres

This year we've added 1,200 acres to our tomato patch. Just to raise the tomatoes for making the sauce that goes on Van Camp's Beans.

The demand for Van Camp's Beans is growing by leaps and bounds. It is now larger, by several times over, than for any other brand in the world.

Yet it is only beginning. There are millions of housewives still baking their own beans. They will all let us bake for them when they know Van Camp's.

And thousands are still buying other brands—simply because they don't know. Some time they will get a can of Van Camp's. Then they'll be our customers, too.

So we have planted 1,200 more acres to tomatoes, to supply your demands next year.

We have told you about our tomato sauce. We make it solely from whole, ripe tomatoes, grown close to our kitchens, and ripened on the vines.

We pick these tomatoes just at the crest of their ripeness—when the juice fairly sparkles. That's how we get that superlative zest in the sauce that's baked into our beans.

Some sauce is made from tomatoes picked green and ripened in shipment. Some is made of scraps from a canning factory. Such sauce is not rich; it lacks flavor.

But such sauce costs only one-fifth what we spend to make ours. That's why it is often used. And that is one reason why other beans cannot compare with Van Camp's.

Another reason lies in the beans themselves.

We buy only the choicest Michigan beans, grown on a soil rich in nitrogen. They are picked over by hand, so we get only the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown.

We often pay for such beans seven or eight times what other beans can be bought for. But you can see the result if you compare other beans with Van Camp's.

Our beans are baked in live steam, heated to 245 degrees. We bake in small parcels, so that the full heat goes through.

The result is, the particles are separated, by the fierce heat, so that the digestive juices can get to them.

That is not so with home-baked beans. Not half so much heat gets to the center of your baking dish. The result is, your beans don't digest. They ferment and form gas.

Then we bake the beans, the tomato sauce and the pork all together and get a delicious blend.

In these ways we prepare, after 47 years of experience, the finest beans ever baked. The millions of people who know these beans never will use any other.

Van Camp's PORK AND BEANS

BAKED
SAUCE

Have you begun to use Van Camp's? If not, ask your neighbor about them. Learn—for your own sake—what you are missing. Millions are now enjoying this delicious, economical, ready-cooked dish.

We don't need to argue about other brands of beans. If somebody claims that his beans equal ours, simply try them and see. We are willing to abide by your judgment.

But we do wish to argue about home-baked beans. Beans to be good for you must be digestible. And, to be digestible, they must be factory cooked.

You don't want to eat beans that ferment and form gas—that don't digest, don't nourish.

You don't want some beans crisped, and others less than half baked. You want them all baked alike.

You don't want them mushy and broken. You do want them nutty, mealy and whole.

You can't bake beans as they should be baked. You lack the facilities—lack sufficient heat.

And think of the trouble you save by having them ready-baked. Each can in the house means a meal all cooked. A meal that is more nutritious than meat—more appetizing than anything else that you know.

Sit out in the breeze these hot afternoons and let us cook the supper for you.

CAUGHT AT FREEPORT

HAD $200.00 IN CASH LEFT

Absconding "Yardman" Had Spent $100 of His Loot Before Apprehension by the Police

After living in ease and luxury for two days, George Smith, who disappeared from the American house last Thursday evening with $300, was located by the Freeport police department Saturday evening and was brought to La Crosse yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Burns. When arrested Smith had about $200 left and is said to have been found in company with Miss Laura Thompson, formerly located at the local Chop Suey restaurant.

Smith will be arraigned before Judge Brindley, probably late this afternoon for a hearing.

It is understood that Proprietor Timp of the American house was willing to come to some agreement in regard to the case and would be satisfied if the money could be made up by Smith or his relatives, but after an investigation it was learned that the relatives of Smith were unable financially to make any settlement and as a result Smith will be prosecuted.

After leaving La Crosse Smith went direct to Freeport, where he met Laura Thompson, and the Freeport police, through a notice in the Tribune, and later by a message from the local police, discovered the man.

FARMER'S RIG IS SMASHED BY AUTO

Late Saturday evening or real Sunday morning an accident occurred on the Mormon Coulee road about three miles from La Crosse in which an unknown farmer had his buggy badly damaged by being hit with an automobile. The farmer was driving south on the road and the machine was coming toward town, evidently at a high rate of speed as the buggy was almost demolished and the horses thrown to the road. Luckily the farmer escaped injury and proceeded to his home minus his carriage. The driver of the automobile when he realized the danger hastened to the city before his identity was discovered.

CHIEF BRADFIELD GOES TO OFFICE

Chief Nathan Bradfield, who was injured in the accident a week ago, was able to go to the office in the Central station for the first time this morning. He will not be able to resume his active duties for several weeks owing to the injury in his arm.

Fay, who was also injured, was removed to the hospital again Saturday where he is receiving treatment.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

Ed Herltzke, a farmer living on the Chipmunk coulee road entertained about 40 of his friends and relatives at a house party yesterday afternoon. The day was spent in games and other amusements and all reported an excellent time.

At the meeting of the saengerfest committee at the offices of the secretary Saturday afternoon it was definitely decided that there would be no further assessment on the guarantee fund to make up the deficit created by the saengerfest. Although bills were received to the amount of $1,700 and ordered paid, the committee is still at sea as to the exact financial standing of the association and they are also unable to make any statement regarding the condition of the finances.

While there will be a large deficit caused by the saengerfest the committee has a number of ways in mind whereby money can be raised without the assessment of the guarantee fund, and at a meeting to be held next Saturday some scheme will be devised.

The renting and management of the auditorium has been placed in the hands of President William Doerflinger and the committee hopes to extract a goodly amount through the building up to the time that it will be razed.

Secretary Utermoehl is continually receiving letters from officers of the bund congratulating La Crosse in the way that they successfully handled the saengerfest.

MRS. BERT LOVING DIES ON SUNDAY

Mrs. Bert E. Loving died at her home, 729 Mill street, Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Death was caused by heart trouble from which the deceased had been suffering since last April. The deceased was 50 years of age and had been a resident of Sparta for 25 years before she moved to this city two years ago. She leaves a family of five children, Charles, Elizabeth, Elvina and Nettie of La Crosse, and Mrs. Cora Spence of Minneapolis. There are also four sister and three brothers who remain to mourn her death.

The funeral will be held from the residence tomorrow morning at 6:30 and the remains will be shipped on the 8:00 o'clock Northwestern to Ontario, where interment will take place. William Dwyer is in charge.

STATE GRANITE MEN AUG. 11TH

The final arrangements for the fourth semi-annual meeting of the Wisconsin Retail Granite and Marble Dealers' association, which is to be held in this city August 11, 12 and 13, have nearly been completed.

It is expected that several hundred delegates will attend the convention and Vice President Gardner for this district has taken an active part in the preparation for the reception of these visitors. Many answers have been received to invitations to dealers in Minnesota and Iowa, which lead the local officials to think that the convention will be largely attended.

All the sessions of the association will be held in the council chamber of the city hall and although about three days will be occupied by business social programs have been arranged for the delegates the social program are: An auto ride about the city, an afternoon at the league ball park, a visit to the Oak Grove cemetery and an excursion on the Mississippi river.

The following program has been arranged for the convention:

Tuesday, August 11.

10:30 a. m.—Reception of guests at the city hall.

1:30 p. m.—Business meeting followed by an automobile ride about the city.

Wednesday, August 12.

9 a. m.—General business meeting and the reading of papers.

1 p. m.—Visit to the several marble shops of the city and Oak Grove cemetery, followed by attending the baseball game between La Crosse and Fond du Lac.

Thursday, August 13.

9 a. m.—Business meeting.

2:30 p. m.—Boat ride on the Mississippi river and out door lunch up the river at 6 o'clock.

FUNERAL OF MRS. J. E. WILLEY TODAY

Mrs. Jeannette E. Willey died Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mrs. John Torrance, 1513 West Avenue south from a complication of diseases and the infirmities of old age. The deceased was about seventy years of age and had for the last quarter of a century been a resident of La Crosse. Her suffering had been intense but a change in her condition Saturday morning left her without pain.

Mrs. Willey was born in Oneida county, N. Y., on August 28, 1839. She came to La Crosse from Glenwood, Pope county, Minn., where she and her husband who died 19 years ago, resided for many years. She was for many years a member of the West Avenue Methodist church.

Mrs. Willey is survived by three daughters and two sons. Mrs. A. Staublin, Mrs. John Torrance, Mrs. Frank Kouba, Fay E. Willey and Charles Willey, one brother, N. S. Gates of West Salem, and one sister, Mrs. H. C. Phillips of Galesville, besides six grandchildren.

The funeral, the arrangements of which were in charge of Mrs. Theo. Mannstedt, was held this morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Torrance, 1513 West Avenue South, and Rev. W. P. Cunningham conducted the services. He was assisted by Rev. G. H. Rohrabach, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church. The body was sent to West Salem for interment.

A NIGHT LAMP EXPLODED

Oshkosh People Get Out of the House but Desire of Child to Rescue Canary is Fatal

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 3.—A desire to save her pet canary bird from the flames caused the death Sunday of Elsie Blechel, aged 10 years, in a fire that consumed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gubisch.

The fire is believed to have originated from the explosion of a night lamp. Mr. Gubisch escaped from his room and then entered his wife's apartments to save her and the little girl, who made her home with the family. The child got away from the woman's guidance and tried to save the canary, but was smothered by the smoke and flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Gubisch were badly cut by glass in getting out through a window.

BAD FIRE AT MARINETTE

MARINETTE, Wis., Aug. 3.—Fire which broke out in the vast lumber yards of the Sawyer-Goodman company for a time threatened the city and the valuable mills of the company. The loss was approximately at least 20,000,000 feet of lumber ready for shipment was destroyed.

The Sawyer-Goodman company has only recently concluded a deal which will call for the building of a new village to be known as Goodman in the heart of the forests north of the city. Here it expects to erect large mills, the raw supply being sufficient to keep the plant employed for several years.

DAILY MARKETS

Foreign Markets

Because of the unsettled condition of the local agency of the Miner and Co. commission brokers it will be impossible to secure good reports on the grain conditions throughout the country, but Mr. Bingham, the manager of the local agency, hopes that as soon as the new connection is made he will be able to receive his grain gossip as usual. There are no quotations from Liverpool today because of a holiday there.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The reaction that started in the stock market the last hour on Saturday continued during the early trading and at the end of the first hour prices generally showed losses of about one point from Saturday's close. Union Pacific ranged around 155 for the good part of the hour. Several industries were taken up apparently by bull manipulators and made strong without regard to heaviness in railroad stocks.

LOCAL MARKETS

The local market remains stationary today no changes being shown in either wholesale or retail quotations. Green corn remains at 12 1/2 cents but is expected to drop to 10 cents before long. There is but little hay and wood on the market and the demand is not large enough to necessitate a larger supply. Farmers in the vicinity report that the continued hot weather is working havoc with crops and those near Westby and Coon Valley report very poor tobacco crops.

ARCHBISHOP QUIGLEY OF CHICAGO

ROME, Italy, Aug. 3.—It is the general belief at the Vatican in Rome that another red hat is to go to America. It is declared that Archbishop Quigley, of Chicago, is almost certain to be created a cardinal, although it is uncertain whether his elevation will take place at the next consistory or be deferred a short time.

BALLOONS TO RACE DURING STATE FAIR

ANOTHER AIR FLIGHT IS PLANNED TO START FROM ST. PAUL.

Agents of Fair Association Now in New York Completing Arrangements for Second Race.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 3.—Preliminary arrangements have practically been completed by L. N. Scott for another balloon race with international entries, which will start from St. Paul some time during state fair week. Mr. Scott has been in New York some time, conferring with A. Leo Stevens, one of the leading aeronauts of the country, with regard to entries. In this work Mr. Scott has been very successful, so it is stated, and the contest should be even more representative than that held at the conclusion of Shriner's week.

It is understood that the coming contest is to be thrown open to aeronauts and gas bag owners all over the country and valuable trophies will be hung up for the winners of the event. St. Paul has become a center of considerable ballooning interest because of the activity of Mr. Scott, and its geographical location makes it favorable for the start of distance contests. It is situated approximately between the two oceans, while to the north and south is a wide expanse of land ample to test the endurance powers of the huge greyhounds of the air.

One fact which adds interest to any contest which may have St. Paul for its starting point is that Mr. Scott's balloon, the American, is considered, under the present conditions, one of the best that ever soared terra firma. The United States, which is owned by Dick Ferris, is nearly a companion balloon to the American. Both have been overhauled since their last flight and will be in excellent condition to uphold the honors for the Northwest Aeronautic association.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST TO RUN A MOTOR CAR?

One of the most valuable bits of automobile publicity which has ever been published, is the current number of the Rambler Magazine which the publishers aptly call the "Maintenance Number."

Practically the whole publication is given up to facts and figures concerning the cost of operating an automobile, not how much it would cost as figured out by some factory expert, but actual figures furnished by private owners.

Rambler owners from 37 states have contributed articles giving their own experiences and maintenance cost and it contains in addition an interesting article as to the value of large tires, and expert answers to questions which the ordinary motorist often is compelled to ask.

Copies of this number will be cheerfully sent to any one interested enough to write to the Thomas B. Jeffery & Company at Kenosha for a copy.

MAN HURT; FAST RUN MADE

ROCHESTER, Minn., Aug. 3.—Peter Johnson, a railroad brakeman on the Chicago & Northwestern railway, while at work Saturday night on the Dakota Central division of that road, met with an accident that may cost him his life, and he is now in a serious condition at St. Mary's hospital in this city.

Johnson was on top of a freight car that had been sent to a siding and he was to stop it in front of an elevator. In the darkness of the night he did not see another car standing on the same track, and the car upon which he stood dashed into the other car, throwing Johnson between the two. The cars came together with such force that both were started down the track.

A special train was made up, all regular trains sidetracked, and the special given a clear track to this city from Tracy. An ambulance was ready at the depot when the train arrived here, and the man was taken with all haste to the hospital. The run from Tracy to this city was made in five hours.

RANCHER IS KILLED

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Aug. 3.—H. M. Wooster, a wealthy ranchman of Blairtown, was instantly killed by the overturning of his automobile near Marion. His wife and granddaughter were with him in the car when it went over a steep embankment, but the woman escaped injury.

STATE RED MEN SOON TO POW WOW

GREAT INCOHENESE BIRD WILL BE GUEST AT CONVENTION.

WINONA TO ENTERTAIN

Minnesota Tribes at Council Will Convene at Winona August 11. Many Features Arranged.

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 3.—The program has been outlined for the state convention of the Red Men of Minnesota, which will be held in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 11 and 12. A large attendance of Red Men from all over the state is expected. The convention sessions will be held in Masonic hall, and on Tuesday evening the social session will be held in Philharmonic hall.

The convention will open at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning, August 11. There will be an address of welcome by Mayor E. S. Muir, and the response will be by T. J. Reid of Minneapolis, great sachem of Minnesota.

Following the addresses will come the reports, among which will be the report of George Hofmann of this city, on the national convention, held last September, to which he was a delegate.

The big convention hall will be held Tuesday evening in Philharmonic hall. This will be preceded by a one act farce, "The Mock Adoption," in which the secret work will be caricatured.

Wednesday morning will be given up to business sessions, and adjournment will be reached in the afternoon.

A feature of the convention will be the visit here of W. A. S. Bird, of Topeka, Kan., the great incohenese of the order in the United States. He will address the delegates on Tuesday.

FOUND DEAD IN BED IN WINONA

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 3.—George W. Kramer, a barber in the shop of John Hitzker, in this city, was found dead in bed in his room by James Scott, who occupies an adjoining room, and broke open the door. The coroner was summoned and pronounced his death due to congestion of the lungs. Mr. Kramer came to Winona seven months ago from Owatonna. He was about forty years old and was born at St. Peter.

NORTHWEST IN BRIEF

MITCHELL, S. D.—The Davison county normal institute will open Monday morning for a session to last nine days. The teaching force is composed of F. H. Hoff, conductor, G. A. Warfield, Jennie L. Claypool, Jessie Walrath, O. E. Browne, Della Conley and E. J. Quigley. Two entertainments will be given during the week, one by Prof. George W. Nash of Aberdeen normal, and one by Miss Elizabeth Boyd.

YANKTON, S. D.—There was a good deal of doubt and much opposition to the big drainage ditch proposed for this county and Clay, but now that the work is progressing so well a good deal of interest is being taken in the undertaking. The county board and other officers visited the scene of operations, and are more than pleased at the way in which the contractors are handling the big job.

IOWA FALLS, Iowa.—The annual reunion of the old soldiers and sailors of Hardin county will not be held until September 9. It was originally announced that this reunion would occur this month, but owing to the date conflicting with other public gatherings, it has been deemed best by the officers of the association to postpone the meeting to a later date. The reunion will be held in this city this year.

IOWA FALLS, Iowa.—The newspaper plant at Marland, which was abandoned by Editor Gray about a year ago and which was sold under a foreclosure of mortgage, is to be put in commission again and the paper revived. W. H. Byvank of Waterloo has bought the property and will get out the first issue of the new paper in about two weeks.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa.—Hog cholera is raging in the vicinity of Ute, Iowa. A great number of swine have died of the disease already and there is no evidence of its abating.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa.—The Minneapolis and St. Louis depot at Terril, Iowa, was destroyed by fire set by lightning last night. All the contents of the building were destroyed with it.

BLACKDUCK, Minn.—At a meeting of the school board held last evening bids for the erection of the new $20,000 school building were opened and all but two were rejected, the two being retained for further consideration.

THE STORY OF RIO DE JANIERO

FIRE DEPARTMENT SUB-STATION, RIO DE JANIERO, BRAZIL

(By Hon. John Bartlett, Director Bureau of American Republics.)

Brazil is the largest republic in the world. This means that if you take Brazil's area, 3,218,130 square miles, you can cover with it all the contiguous area of the United States, exclusive of Alaska and island possessions, 3,026,789 square miles, and still have more than enough left to conceal the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. Bigness is not the only feature of the United States of Brazil to compare with the United States of North America. There is a similarity of productivity as well. Perhaps the advantage is really on the side of Brazil, for the region in our own country which, on account of extreme cold or arid soil, can not be made to grow anything, is matched in the southern republic by a tropical wilderness, but here something will grow; in fact, this is one of the most fertile regions on earth. Brazil is easily divided into three great zones, representing both latitude and natural products.

The northern zone is naturally called the Amazon region, and embraces the northern states from the borders upon the Guianas, Venezuela and Colombia down through the state of Bahia. This includes some of the oldest known land of the republic, as well as the newest. Along the seacoast are settlements made by the Spanish, Portuguese and Dutch pioneers; up the Amazon are vast tracts unknown except to the native Indian, or rather more truthfully still waiting for the white man to clear away the virgin forest before building a home. Yet the Amazon itself is by no means unknown land. From its mouth on the Atlantic 30,000 miles of water navigable to ocean going craft are used almost daily. Manaus, a beautiful city of 60,000 inhabitants, lies 1,000 miles in the interior. This, the capital of the state of Amazonas, has all the requirements of a modern city; fine streets, public buildings, parks, a trolley system, a magnificent opera house and convenient docks for the active shipping, make it the center of great commercial interests. For over 1,000 miles further the territory is still Brazilian. Over the boundary 300 miles is the Peruvian city of Iquitos, still approachable by ocean going craft. From the Amazon comes most of Brazil's rubber which is supplied to the United States and Europe. Here are many of the cities so well known to history, romance and commerce. Manaus has been mentioned; Para (Belem) is near the mouth of the river and Marañon (the Marañon of English writers), is further along the coast. But other states must be added to this northern area. Ceara belongs here; also Rio Grande do Norte which has as its northeastern apex the famous Cape San Roque; below this is Pernambuco, with its wonderful seaport of Recife often called Pernambuco like the state, and further south yet is Bahia, the capital of which, Sao Salvador, is usually called Bahai also. These are great producers of sugar, tobacco, cacao and cotton, but the country is rich, while the climate in the uplands back of the coast is cool and healthful.

The southern zone of Brazil lies all below the Tropic of Capricorn, which passes above the port of Santos. Three great states make up this area, Parana, Santa Catarina and Rio Grande do Sul, and in themselves form only a small portion of Brazil.

ending bids for the erection of the new $20,000 school building were opened and all but two were rejected, the two being retained for further consideration.

CLOSE FAMOUS MINE

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 3.—The famous Chandler iron mine of the Vermilion range made its final shipment of ore Saturday. It was one of the first iron mines to be opened in Minnesota, and the quality of ore was high. Chandler ore was known throughout the iron and steel world. The property is or rather was located at Ely, and it has produced 18,000,000 tons since it was discovered in 1886. The value of the ore has been about $45,000,000. The Chandler helped to make Dr. Conan of Milwaukee, R. B. Whiteside of Duluth and Martin and William Pattison of Superior millionaires, for they were the three owners. The mine was operated by the steel corporation.

Striking Indian Nomenclature
"Muskoka," Clear Sky Land;
"Magnetawan," Smooth Flowing Water; "Kawartha," Bright Water and Happy Lands; "Temagami," Deep Water; "Wawa," the flying goose, are Indian words that fittingly describe some of the most delightful spots for a summer outing on the American continent. All reached at special low round trip fares via the Grand Trunk Railway System. Double track from Chicago to Montreal and Niagara Falls.

Particulars of fares, descriptive literature, time tables, etc., will be mailed free on application to Geo. W. Vaux, A. G. P. & T. A., 135 Adams Street, Chicago.

CHASED IN AUTO 100 MILES

WATERTOWN, S. D., Aug. 3.—After an all night's chase, covering 100 miles, Charles P. Rand, wanted by the police of this city, on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm upon Commissioner Moran Tuesday night, was found at a farmer's house about fifteen miles south of Raymond by Will Alverson and W. W. Hall of Clark. They started at once with him for Watertown in their automobile, reaching this city at sunrise and securing the $100 reward offered by Chief of Police Keegan for the man's apprehension. Rand's alleged victim is slowly recovering, though still in a precarious condition.

DOCK NEARS COMPLETION.

TWO HARBORS, Minn., Aug. 3.—The new million dollar steel dock of the United States Steel corporation is nearing completion. The last section is now being raised. Riveting will take six weeks. Dock No. 2 will be rebuilt of wood the coming winter, employing 300 men. Ore shipments are fair.

JUST ESCAPES LYNCHING.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Aug. 3.—Accused of wife beating on the public streets, George Corey of Terry, a small mining camp near here, almost lost his life at the hands of a mob.

Corey had been arrested and jailed. A mob quickly formed and broke into the jail. The man was taken to the highway, where he was forced to run a gauntlet by men with black snakes. Many men were in favor of lynching him, but the women of the town prevented this and he was driven down the gulch and warned never to return.

SEE FATHER CHOKE AND DIE

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Aug. 3.—The lodging of a piece of meat in his throat caused the death of Gottlieb Schmittgall, a farmer in Hutchinson county. He was eating his breakfast when the piece of meat became lodged in his throat. Notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of himself and his horrified children, who were present and witnessed the tragic fate of their father, the obstruction could not be removed, and he slowly choked to death.

DIES IN WASHING MACHINE

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Aug. 3.—The one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Johnson of Bristow was scalded to death Thursday afternoon by falling into the washing machine into which Mrs. Johnson had just poured a quantity of boiling water. While the mother, who was preparing to do the washing, had her back turned, the child mounted a stool near the washing machine and fell into the water.

CURRENT SWEEPS TO DEATH

WATERLOO, Iowa, Aug. 3.—While bathing in Shell Rock river at Clarksville Friday afternoon Wayne Ramsey, the nine-year-old son of Parnee Ramsey, was swept away by the current and drowned. The accident occurred at 5 o'clock, and the body was recovered one hour later. Wayne was the son of the woman whose face was burned by lye, thrown by a man whom she refused to marry.

BLACKMAIL CHARGE MADE.

CROOKSTON, Minn., Aug. 3.—Herman Wold of Hallock was bound over here on $500 bail before United States Commissioner Mix on a charge of using the mails for blackmail. J. Kitchen of Walhalla, N. D., is the alleged victim.

BEMIDJI, Minn., Aug. 3.—Mary Johnson, as administratrix of the estate of her son, Oscar J. Johnson, who died on March 9 from heart failure, while convalescing from an attack of diphtheria, brought suit against Dr. John C. Koch of Blackduck, who treated the case, for the sum of $5,000 damages for her loss, on the grounds that he negligently attended the case. The case was taken up this afternoon in district court before Judge Stanton. Counsel for the defendant demurred against the complaint. Arguments on the demurrer were heard by the judge, who took the case under advisement.

Anyway, if a man didn't spend all his money on his family he would lose it some other way.

Highest Medical Authority on Beer

Dr. Ashbell Parmalee, First Vice-President of the N. Y. Medical Legal Society and late Dean of Medical Department "U" of Vermont University, says:

"I am convinced that the legitimate and conservative use of lager beer is not only beneficial to the physical well being of most people, but is, from a temperance point of view, worthy of recognition and adoption."

The combination of nourishment contained in choice barley malt and the tonic properties of selected hops makes Beer both food and medicine. There is, however, a difference in brews. There is a best Beer, and it costs no more than others.

ELFENBRÄU

Is 1908's most notable achievement in beer making. Every known appliance and method that might in any way insure superiority in Elfenbrau as to healthfulness and purity has been installed in the new plant without regard to cost. Elfenbrau is an ideal home beer—delicious, nourishing and refreshing.

Try a case and be convinced. A card or phone intimation will bring it promptly to your door.
